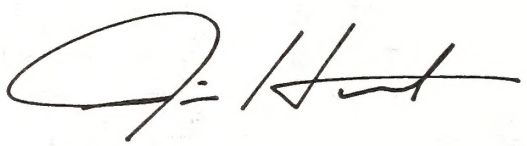
1979-1980 DIRECTORY OF NORTH CAROLINA MANUFACTURING FIRMS

Governor's Message



You will be impressed, I'm sure, with the way we do business as a State. Our budget is balanced. Our credit rating is triple A. There is a very favorable attitude toward business throughout the hundreds of cities, towns and communities across North Carolina.

We have an excellent transportation system for moving your products to markets across the country and abroad.

We offer many incentives to industry, such as training, financial assistance and location services but we are most proud of our fine people. They're hard-working, industrious and productive.

Hundreds of corporations have discovered in recent years that the partnership which exists between industry and government in North Carolina can be mutually rewarding.

I want to extend a very special invitation for you to work closely with our industrial development staff which stands ready to assist you with any requirements you may have. And I want to extend a very personal welcome for you to visit North Carolina and see for yourself what we have to offer.

Governor

Livability

Those cultural amenities which make life full, rich and enjoyable are abundant in North Carolina. Millions of out-of-state visitors travel each year to North Carolina to spend their vacations at resorts which range from luxurious to rustic.

They choose from among three distinct regions, each of which has its own unique attractions.

In the mountains they visit the Great Smoky Mountains National Park and travel the scenic Blue Ridge Parkway which are the nation's most popular national park and parkway.

There, they may also hike or camp in either the Nantahala or Pisgah National Forests. And if that isn't enough to do, they may challenge the rugged terrain of two National Wilderness Areas — Linville Gorge and Shining Rock.

Another favorite retreat in this region is Mount Mitchell, highest peak east of the Mississippi.

Golf courses have sprung up among numerous mountain valleys and provide the golfer with both a magnificient view and challenge.

Golf is also a favorite pastime among the rolling hills of the Piedmont. Pinehurst and Tanglewood are just two of the many course names which have become synonymous with good golf.

The North Carolina Zoological Park at Asheboro is the nation's first state zoo. When completed, it will be the first zoo with a total natural habitat.

Campgrounds, lakes, state parks and auto racing facilities provide other recreational opportunities.

North Carolina's some 300 miles of beaches provide a summer playground for millions of visitors each year. Golf resorts and campgrounds abound throughout this region.

Two national seashores guarantee that nearly one-half of this great coastal resource will be preserved for future generations in its present state.

The famed Outer Banks has been for many years a favorite summertime destination for those wanting to spend their leisure moments on a remote beach.

The Arts

Consider these achievements of the arts:

The nation's first state university was chartered at Chapel Hill, North Carolina in 1789.

The nation's first state supported outdoor symphonic drama was established at Manteo in 1937 where the outdoor drama "The Lost Colony" continues to be performed each summer.

In 1947, North Carolina became the first state to approve the expenditure of state funds for the purchase of works of art for the State Museum of Art.

In 1965, North Carolina became the first state to establish with state funds, a school for the performing arts.

In 1943, North Carolina became the first state to provide annual funding to a state symphony whose concerts in public schools have brought music to more children than any other symphony orchestra in the nation.

Recently, the North Carolina Symphony played to sell-out audiences at Carnegie Hall in New York City and the Kennedy Center in Washington, D.C.

Education

Good schools at elementary, secondary and college levels reflect the State's continuing commitment to education.

Good housing, adequate health care and the proliferation of suburban shopping centers are other everyday advantages which North Carolina offers its citizens.

Quality of Life

Recently, the South magazine conducted a quality of life survey among the southeastern states which considered, among other things, income, education, health care, recreation, crime and housing.

North Carolina placed first and South magazine concluded: "If statistics mean anything, the best southern state in which to live is North Carolina."

Transportation

North Carolina's network of transportation facilities provides the State with a major advantage in shipping and receiving the materials and products of commerce and industry.

The State's highway system (more than 75,000 miles) is the largest state-maintained road network in the nation. Five interstate highways cross North Carolina, providing easy access to the rest of the nation.

There are more "long-line" interstate motor carriers located here than in any other state.

Rail service is provided by 22 railways to 91 of the State's 100 counties.

Five commercial airlines operate from 12 commercial airports which serve the State with both passenger and freight service. Two of the fastest growing airports are located at Greensboro and Charlotte.

North Carolina is located within 500 miles of more than half the nation's population which permits overnight deliveries to all major manufacturing centers east of the Mississippi River.

Two modern ports, at Morehead City and Wilmington, offer excellent facilities for cargos of all types, including containerized cargo.

The port terminal at Wilmington has 6,000 feet of continuous concrete wharf. In addition, transit sheds and storage warehouses are available. Four gantry cranes available have a total heavy-lift capacity of 300 tons. Containerization capabilities are available for handling 20-foot and 40-foot containers.

The port at Morehead City has 5,300 feet of continuous wharf; two 115-gantry cranes; four 300-foot barge berths, three concrete transit sheds and seven storage warehouses. There is a fully automated phosphate bulk handling facility with an hourly loading capability of 2,200 tons. In addition, the Morehead City Port has the capability for handling 20-foot and 40-foot containers.

Notes

Manpower

Manpower is North Carolina's most valuable resource.

Good labor-management relations prevail in the state as evidenced by consistently low work stoppages and high productivity.

Some of the criteria for making plant location decisions are subjective; but things like work stoppages are not. The average time lost in North Carolina as the result of labor disputes during the past 15 years is .04 of one percent as compared to a national average of .22 percent.

In 1975, the number of work stoppages in North Carolina was the lowest for any year since 1960.

Union membership in North Carolina as a percentage of the total work force has declined during the past decade. With a total membership of 6.9 percent of the total nonagricultural employment, North Carolina's percentage of unionized employment is lowest of all 50 states.

A recent productivity study revealed that North Carolina workers produced $.22 more output per $1 received in wages than did workers in the United States in the same industries.

The average hourly earnings for manufacturing production work is $4.49 (July, 78). Last year, the average employer's contribution to unemployment insurance was 1.4 percent for North Carolina compared to a national average of 2.0 percent.
